Review by: Sree

Plot:

- The film revolves around Li LiZhong who lost his father and is placed as the captain in the security force of a village, then he is exposed to the dark secrets of his own family.
- The story is very artsy and more of a Thriller Drama than Action Thriller.
- Slow flow of the film and events won't be accepted by the general public.
- The film is a great Psychological Thriller Action Drama.
- Even being slow the film keeps the audience interested and engaged till the end because of the secret it reveals gradually.

Cinematography:

The film has amazing cinematography and direction.

The shot where the character "Chen" gives the reason of why he murdered all the white dogs in the village he talks about a human being there, that was shot with a psychological aspect of someone mentally disabled.

The night shots are also properly shot.

Execution/Direction:

The execution is done really well that makes the complex story easy for the audience to understand.

The scene especially where the lead actor is shown being revealed of his father's dark secrets and how the lead actor connects the dots, this helps the audience connect the story too.

Dialogues:

The subtitles are quite precise and not exaggerated, which helps understand every bit of the story.

Pace:

The pace of the film can be a problem as it is quite slow and can make few of them lose interest in the film.

VFX, sound & Lights:

The sound in the film is clear, loud and matches the situation. The lights are also used accurately in the dark scenes especially that keeps the film visible.

Suggestion:

The film has a really good plot and the execution is proper as well. But it is a little artsy and slow, which can be a hindrance.
